[BEGINNING OF CALL]
JN: Ray.

HRS: What's up?

JN: What's up man?

HRS: Ah sitting here in the friggin' airport.

JN: Yeah, how's it going?

HRS: Ah my flight was supposed to leave earlier but now I'm not leavin outta here until 5:30.

JN: 5:30?

HRS: Yep.

JN: (coughs) That's crazy (coughs).

HRS: Yep.

JN: What time are you supposed to leave?

HRS: I was supposed to leave at 3:30.

JN: Wow. That sucks.

HRS: So what's going on?

JN: Not much man I mean it's the last day of session.

HRS: Uh.

JN: ...and uh...

HRS: You left me a message to call you. I'm like panicking here.

JN: No, no. Everything's fine man, I'm just I'm just keepin you updated. I told you I would.

HRS: Oh. Okay, yup.

JN: Just keeping you updated letting you know that, that there's no movement, nothing's happening. And you know, you we, we've been successful so -
HRS: Alrighty. Well from the time I'm getting outta here the time I get back uh they gave me the green light to you know come up with the other, bring up the other ten.

JN: Alright.

HRS: Ya know I'm not gonna make it tonight.

JN: Yeah, yeah I hear ya.

HRS: Ya know I'll hook up sometime and thank Chris and then me and you we'll go take a little walk.

JN: Sounds good man. Let me know, uh, you know when, when you wanna get together and, uh, you know like I said before, if you could just do like $2,500 to the uh state Democrats.

HRS: Yep.

JN: That'd be great.

HRS: Well like I said I get the checks, you just tell me who to make them out to.

JN: Alright. Sounds good man.

HRS: Alright brother.

JN: Appreciate it. I'll talk to you soon.

JN: Bye.
